“You” is meant to refer to the reader of this document (typically as borrower/potential borrower who works with us)

This document (hereinafter “Disclaimer”) applies to all information (hereinafter “Content”) found on, or as a result of visiting, the following two (2) websites:

- www.concordmortgagegrouppltd.ca

- www.concordmortgage.ca

- Content assembled with care but accuracy not guaranteed
- Content may be provided in an effort to illuminate options that the Brokerage believes you may have access to, through them and their lenders, however, it is not meant to suggest a route; any options you choose are done so with you (ie. borrower) as the one(s) taking responsibility/credit for the risks/benefits resulting from your choice(s), based on Content
- Rates/fees/costs detailed/suggested in Content are not guaranteed and are subject to change without notice
- Estimates of time, likelihood of approval, rate and cost estimates that may be detailed/suggested in Content are not guaranteed and subject to change without notice
- Content does not guarantee approval, nor financing
- Content not meant to be a gauge of what every possible lender might offer you. It may be provided as an estimate of if we think our preferred lenders may be receptive to an application, and if so, at what costs
- Brokerage might not have done any specific calculations to determine Content, but rather may be relying largely on their experience
- Content might not list all products that the Brokerage may have access to. Omissions may be for brevity or because the brokerage does not think that the application/file is suitable for such a product and/or they may be estimating that likelihood of approval for same is low.
- Content might have been assembled without having the brokerage yet having checked your latest credit report. In the event that credit scores are not as anticipated by the Brokerage, Content could be affected.
- Rates detailed/suggested in Content are calculated semi-annually, not in advance (unless otherwise noted)
- In the event of a discrepancy between Content and verifiable third-party data from reliable sources (ie. lender’s documents), please rely on latter.
