

A Small Gift

You will find two cards enclosed with this letter; these cards work very well as bookmarks. Instructions on how to use them are below. These cards will allow for quick recall of where to resume reading again.

- 1) Face the front of the card (the side with the contact information) towards the page that you are reading.
- 2) Align the top of the card with the line that you want to read upon opening the book again. If the line you left off on is close to the bottom of the page, simply turn the card lengthwise to minimize the amount of the card that is protruding from the book.
- 3) Gently press the card into the binding/margin of the book.
- 4) The card is ideally weighted for most books. When you wish to read that particular book again, simply fan through the pages and it will spring open at your saved page.

These cards allow you to read several books at once, without needing to remember the specific line you are on.
